David Booker - Website Development & Interactive Media Designer

Dear Sir or Madame:

My name is David Booker. I have been a viable force in the world of graphic design, print design, and web design for the past eight years. As a freelancer I have worked on numerous design projects for satisfied customers and clients. I recently completed my web design diploma from the Art Institute of Pittsburgh to further increase his skills and to assist him in becoming more acquainted with the current practices and patterns of modern web design concepts and techniques.

I brings life experience as a musician and university instructor for over the past 12 years which has cultivated my eager tenacity to continue learning and being a creative problem solver. This ability to solve problems quickly as an improviser is equally accepted in the world of graphics and web design. This skill enables me to move beyond the assumed limitations of the current web design scripting languages to create new and unimagined possibilities on the internet. This skill would serve your company in becoming or maintaining the lead as the foremost authority in web technologies.

Though my official training as a designer may appear limited, I make up for that in is unquenchable hunger to be the best web designer in the world. I would like to become a part of your design team, thus allowing me to develop into the internet trailblazer for your customers and client web related projects.

Computer Skills:
Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign, and Flash CS5

Training and Development of a team:
I managed the music department at HCCI for the past 13 years. We went from singing to tapes, to recording services, purchasing a profession sound system, creating a teach a small ensemble as well as an adult and youth chorale. We went from being a one man band, to having a fully functional rhythm section. The excellence that we have established cause local and national artist to come in from time to time in hope or recruiting our people to participate in their national and international endeavers [Music, Media, and singing].

Track Record of Building Leaders:
While teaching for the past 12 years as a music instructor, I have accomplished to train over 400 plus students on professionalism and learning their craft in excellence. Some of my music students are in the national spotlight currently based on the training and tutilage they have received. Some of the students that I've trained and mentored have gone on to write for Beyonce, play for Chrisette Michelle, tour with Donna Summers, and receive record contracts of their own.

Design Experience in the Field:
As the lead web designer with Inner Image Designs, I single-handedly managed the web projects that the company has began since 2007. Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, and Dreamweaver have been intigral in the success of these mentioned projects.
